If anyone goes over to Hunt's Corner to get to Norway, be careful when you get to the Waterford line; as the road doesn't look as though it had any sand on it.

Happiness or unhappiness depends more on the way we meet events than on the nature of those events themselves.

— Clarice Gibson, Corres. —
The groundhog saw his shadow and so this means six more weeks of winter. With the wind today, Monday, it certainly feels like winter. We did however, have a beautiful week end. One person told me it is the first time in 11 weeks that both Saturday and Sunday were sunny. This brought out the snowmobilers and skiers in great numbers. Sunday afternoon Ira, I and my sister, Iva, took George to catch the plane out of Portland jetport. Norway Lake had many snowmobiles as I was told they were having a fishing derby that day. When we got to the lake before Poland Spring House, this too had its share of snowmachines.

Wednesday was another day of no school and George walked up to see his brother, Frank III and family in Newry trailer park. They brought him back Thursday and left Tinker and Karen with me while they went shopping.

Mrs. Pat Anderson and two boys went to Lake Winnepesaukee, N. H. to visit her friend Sandy Smith from Friday to Sunday for a week end of skiing and sliding. Eric had just slid down a slope when someone else slid down behind him and hit Eric's head with

STATE OF MAINE

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Karen L. Brown

A resolution to require Congress to approve a Constitutional Amendment mandating a balanced federal budget was tabled by the Legislative council until Feb. 6. The measure stirred a heated debate between party lines among leadership, but Republicans were unable to obtain the necessary cooperation to bring the resolution to the House and Senate floors for open debate.

I feel this measure could possibly be a solution to the $1 billion weekly interest payments made on our national debt. A major reason that our federal government is now spending about $29 billion more each year than it takes in is because of the support for every conceivable social welfare program that has been created. The end result of government overspending is inflation, which is the cruellest hidden tax on our workers and the elderly living on fixed incomes.

My first legislation to be scheduled for a public hearing will be on Feb. 13 before the Local and County Government Committee. This legislation is concerned with the County Commissioners powers to spend County funds. This legislation has come from my reviewing the past three county budgets, and finding that the County is mandated to pay agencies receiving county funds even if fraud was uncovered. This legislation will give the County Commissioners discretionary power to review grants and agencies on a quarterly basis as the county funds are paid.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Angevine had to call out the Bethel Fire Dept. Saturday for a bad chimney fire, and were very pleased at the promptness of the response. Before the fire Dick and Sue and Kristy had gone to the Odd Fellows supper in Bethel.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benson went to West Peru to visit his sister, Mrs. Gladys Easter.

Mrs. Sylvia Benson took Joan Coolidge to Norway, Wednesday, and Mrs. Barbara MacDougall took Joan to Norway Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Butters went to Lovell Saturday to visit Mrs. Marion Rodgers and had as Sunday supper guests, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hayes and Ethel Elliott of Shelburne, N. H.

Monday, Jan. 29, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lapham had Don Varney of Winthrop as a visitor. Mr. Varney moved from Bethel last year.

Saturday the Laphams had Mrs. Alice Howard as a visitor. Mrs. Howard used to be a resident of this town.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brown had as Friday evening dinner guests The Theatre Group of Bryant Pond. They were Gordon Talley, Marsha Stackman and Peter Crockett.

In and About Bethel

Mrs. Alice Howard, Sudbury Village, visited Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lapham, N. W. Bethel.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Keniston, Locke Mills, and Mrs. Eva Keniston were guests on the week end of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stalling (Kathy Morey) and daughter, Bath.

Miss Donna Brooks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Brooks, has been named to the Dean's List at the University of Maine, Orono.

Miss Robin Hutchins, Augusta, is spending some time with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Hutchins. A baby boy, Matthew James, 8 lbs. 9 oz., was born to Robin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Hutchins, Sunday, Feb. 4, at Augusta General Hospital.

Mrs. Thelma Remington and Janina, and Mrs. Florena McEwen visited Mrs. Rena Simmons and Becky, in Andover, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Walker entertained at a dinner party Saturday evening. Attending were:
Mr. and Mrs. John Winslow, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Fox, Mr. and Mrs.
Gerry Emery, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Packard, Mr. and Mrs. Drew Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Royer, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Werner.

An updated "Bethel brochure" was approved and a $10 charge for each business listing will be assessed in the form of a pledge so that the brochure can not only be funded but prepared in a timely manner as well. The total amount budgeted for this item was $500.

An amount of $480 was allocated for continuing tourist information brochures including a summer edition of the Lodgings and Restaurants guide. Additionally the Chamber proposes to issue two new brochures this year—one on about Grafton Notch State Park and another about local canoeing.

The major undertaking which is at this time unfunded within the budget is the establishment of at least two more unmanned information centers. The members were told that approval had been requested from the Maine Department of Transportation to put up a center in each of three roadside parking areas in Gilead, Bethel, and Greenwood. The proposed centers will be very similar to the one located at the Gem Shop.

Other discussion included hearing about new business developments and how we in the Bethel area can direct the attention of potential vacationers from coastal areas to this section of the state.
Gordon Talley of Bryant Pond, previously associated with a theatrical company, explained the goals of his recently established advertising agency and that his agency's services might be in demand by area businesses seeking a brochure of their own or revising an existing one. Lyn Bristol also spoke about the addition of a "Bookworm" section of second-hand books at the Warehouse on Railroad Street.

In response to a question about what could be done to promote Bethel as an alternative to vacationing in coastal Maine, the president noted that three activities that were either underway or proposed for 1979 aimed at just this situation. First, Bethel Chamber is actively seeking a state operated information booth for the Bethel area to influence more travelers coming into Maine from the west on US Route 2, to stay and look over the Bethel area. Secondly, the Chamber will continue mailing brochures and an introductory letter to travel agencies and large businesses located in the Boston Hartford and Portland areas where most of Maine's vacationers come from. And, thirdly, the 1979 budget provides for $250, as officers' expenses plus another $150 for "other advertising" to be used as time permits for travel to key locations where Bethel area information materials can be left with travel agencies, tourist information centers and vacation service offices of large companies.

Stanley Howe, Director of the Bethel Historical Society pointed out that in 1981 Bethel will be celebrating the bi-centennial of New England's last Indian raid, which occurred in the Bethel area.
Howe noted that the celebration in 1981 is remembered as the most spectacular commemorative event in Bethel's history and that members should be thinking about plans for 1981.

The next scheduled meeting will be in June and it will be the annual Citizens Award Banquet.
Mrs. Barbara D. Brown, the Executive Committee member responsible for public relations will organize this meeting. Selection and meeting of the full executive committee is planned for later in the spring.

SOCIETY HEARS HIGHLIGHTS OF MAIN STREET HISTORY

Highlights of Main Street History was the featured topic at the monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society held last Thursday evening in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House with nearly 60 in attendance. Slides of old Main Street photographs and advertising were shown by Society Director Stanley Howe and Mrs. Rosalind Chapman of the Education and Research Committee told amusing and interesting anecdotes that she had learned while researching Main Street history with the late Eva Bean.

The origins of Main Street go back to about 1861 but the right of way (3 1/2 rods wide) was not fully established until 1869. Photographs shown of the street ranged in time from the Civil War era through the 1960's. Many businesses have disappeared, houses been removed and buildings razed and burned, but throughout the years the street has been essential to the commercial and residential life of the town.

Among the businesses that have disappeared are Whitney's Monuments (now Martha's), Barker's Liquor Agency (now Mothers'), and Ham's Grain Mill (now Bethel Spa Motel). Prominent Main Street residents of past include J. U.
Purinton (now residence of Grace Merrill), Judge Enoch Woodbury (Sudbury Inn) and Dr. I. W. Wight (O'Donnell residence). A full survey of the 50 sites on Main Street is forthcoming in the Society's latest newsletter.

will be served throughout the afternoon. The main event involves nursing home residents rocking in rocking chairs and rolling in wheel chairs for money they can raise in the fight against heart and blood vessel diseases. Anyone who wishes to sponsor one or more of the residents is asked to pledge $1.00 an hour for rockers and $1.00 a mile (100 feet) for rollers. Anyone can be a "Fun Raiser for Heart" by picking up a pledge sheet or just giving a donation.

This joint community effort between the nursing home residents and people in the area has been developed as a worthwhile "fun raising" time for benefits of both the nursing home residents in an otherwise slow time between holiday celebrations and spring festivities and also benefits the local Heart Association.

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

I raised the curtain this morning and there were the fiery clouds with bright red fingers hanging in the east. Above, there were more layers of clouds; some gray, some golden, touched with fire. They floated peacefully in the pale blue sky.
Rain or clouds, sun or snow or dew, I like to say, "Good morning, Day, to you."
The hills stood dark against the brightness. They were smooth and rounded in outline. In a short time the sun looked over the top and its brightness ran down the hill-sides; lighting first just a little then the whole slope.
Snow during the night had choked the driveway; some eight inches this time.
Early afternoon I took down my snowshoes from their long rest and went out. The wind was blowing. I could see the snow smoking down the pond, coming from the north west. I knew that I was somewhat out of the swing of webbed feet so took an easy route through the Bulldozer Road.

All the hemlocks were mounded over with snow. I paused to tap the branches and to see them shed their coats and rise to normal positions.

Looking back toward the house I could see the blue-tinged smoke flowing away from the chimney. Sheltered here among the trees; I did not get the wind or blowing snow which was streaming in the openings.

A lone gray squirrel bounded away downhill from the path ahead of me; its feet silent on the soft snow. It was soon lost among the snow-clung branches, held there by some invisible magic. In the beauty all around I stood hypnotized by new, yet familiar white.

This was the only animal that I saw today.

I did, however, see little piles of shell fragments of acorns or discarded pine cone scales where the red and gray squirrels had been picnicking.

The only bird voice that I heard was the "Yank! Yank!" of the nut-hatch.

The snow capped fence posts punctuated the sprawling fields; the farm house nestled under thick comforters of snow, soft as eider-down.

I had crossed a fence and turned right where I could view the valley. I found a snug corner, sheltered from the wind and look-out about. Were there any wood-chuck holes? I remembered seeing several on this section last fall. I was little concerned with the old saying that if the groundhog sees his shadow on February second there will be six weeks more of winter. I believe we will anyway. In the distance were the mountains with icy stocking caps, forever old but always new, reaching ever upward.

"Mighty mountain, proud snowy head reared above the highest spruce rim Into the cold-mist of heaven and time, Gathers to itself the last moments of day to bathe the slope Toward the sinking sun in breath-taking roseate light Fading all too soon to gray and a memory of glory."

—Carol Knauth
Now I decided that I had been far enough for today so leaving the winding ribbon of packed snow behind me I again crossed the fence and went down the trail toward home.

At length I reached the end of the road from which I could look down the valley, and beyond to the gentle ridges where the growth of forest darkened the sky. Then I turned right by the wood shed, removing my webs and closed my walk.

The sun was still playing in and out among the clouds.
With the feeling of relaxation I settled down to finish a book.

Elta Morris had the Club Eight at her home on Tuesday afternoon. Only six of us there this week as the driving wasn't good so Ruth Hastings didn't come and Helen Chojnacki wasn't able to be there. The hostess gift was won by me, a surprise.

Carol and Lettie Brooks called to visit with us for a while on Saturday afternoon.

On Sunday evening we had dinner with the Holts. It was Ann's birthday. A lovely visit, delicious dinner, and a call from David who talked with us.

Callers at the Hayes Homestead this week end were: Glenn and Seames took his career mark to 658 with a 24-point night, ten points above the previous Telstar high.

The foul-filled contest found Hall-Date skipping out ahead by wide early margins but Telstar drawing close with a 23-16 pick-up in the third quarter that left the clubs only eight apart. In the final period the game was stopped and Seames presented the ball when he exceeded the old Telstar scoring standard. Upon resumption Hall-Date clicked off a 27-23 gain to account for the final margin.

NEED FOR COMMUNITY ROOM

organization in whose space they are meeting and an address by a speaker, or a slide presentation. Mrs. Faudi said there is no doubt that the group has been "catered to" in the past, but they now feel the need for a place of their own to work continuously on projects that will benefit the community. She feels a well-equipped, centrally located community room would be utilized by the senior citizens five days a week. A community room would give the group a new stimulus, and result not only in increased members but in the opportunity to do a lot more for the town. Besides providing a needed continuity of program for her group, such a facility could be of great importance to other groups as well. She particularly noted the need of young people for meeting and recreation space.

Ruth Feeney, director of the Bethel Nutrition Program sponsored by Western Older Citizens, spoke about her program's needs for facilities as well. Presently Western Older Citizens provides mid-day Meals three days a week, serving approximately 60 senior citizens in the Methodist Church dining room on Main Street. Her program could reach more people who need it if it could be carried out in a large central facility.

Both Mrs. Faudi and Mrs. Feeney spoke about the importance of providing a varied program of activity for senior citizens. While the great majority of senior citizens are women, there is also a need to provide a meeting place for men who have retired, but who feel the urge to be engaged in activity that benefits the community.

The committee discussed with the senior citizens a number of possible sites for meeting. Besides having a central location, such a facility would have to be large enough to accommodate over 100 people easily, with an adequate kitchen. A large space would also permit activities such as dance and exercise. Secure storage space should be provided, and the building would have to be easily accessible. Parking space for 30 to 35 cars would be needed.

Ronald Stevens, a member of the committee, noted that when the new fire station was built, the original plans provided space for a community room, to replace the facilities the old fire station had, and town offices. It was the decision of the 1965 annual town meeting to construct the fire station only.

provision of transportation for the senior citizens of the town. At present Western Maine Transportation, associated with Western Older Citizens, provides transportation for senior citizens who do not drive, taking them on shopping trips and to important appointments. The significance of this service to an active life for the senior citizens of the town was stressed.

The committee will meet later this month with the Bethel Recreation Board, to talk about the town's needs for recreation facilities. They plan to meet with representatives of several other groups as well. They are extremely interested to have the views of citizens concerning the town's needs, and will make every effort to provide meeting time for anyone who wishes to talk with them. Persons wishing to meet with the committee should call George Allen, staff assistant, at the Town Office.

The committee's next meeting will be held at Town Office on Monday, Feb. 12, at 7 p. m.
